Learn about what astronauts do in this book. There are a series of books so you can read about being a vet, chef, builder and firefighter.
Perhaps you could visit your local library to borrow one of these books to read together.

The book has lots of flaps which makes it more interesting and interactive for young children. They can get the space shuttle ready, dress the astronaut and fix the space station.

You could look at the sky at night and talk about the stars.

On a clear night you can see the different constellations. This is where the term 'star signs' originates. Do you know what the star signs are in your family?

Are there any jobs or roles that your child is particularly interested in?

These might change over time – I originally wanted to be a midwife, studied biology and then went on to become an early years teachers!
