A simple story, about a small creature who does his best to join in with the others. But he's different. No matter how he tries, he just doesn't belong.

Then Something turns up and wants to be friends. But Something Else isn't sure he's like him at all...

This is a lovely book for talking about similarities and differences. You could start with looking at photographs of people in your family – some people will look similar and others will not. Different people will also like different things – some people might like football but others might prefer rugby.

At school there might be children with different cultural, ethnic, religious and linguistic backgrounds.

Some children might celebrate Christmas and others might not.

Some children might celebrate Eid, Divali or Hanukkah instead.

Others might not celebrate any religious event.

You could find out about a different cultural/religious celebration.
